KNUCKLAS & DISTRICT COMMUNITY CENTRE

HABITUAL OR VEXATIOUS COMPLAINTS POLICY

1. Introduction

1.1 This policy identifies situations where a complainant, either individually or as part of a group, or a group of complainants, might be considered to be 'habitual or vexatious' and ways of responding to these situations.

1.2 In this policy the term habitual means 'done repeatedly or as a habit'. The term vexatious is recognised in law and means 'denoting an action or the bringer of an action that is brought without sufficient grounds for winning, purely to cause annoyance to the defendant'. This policy is intended to assist in identifying and managing persons who seek to be disruptive to Members through pursuing an unreasonable course of conduct.

1.3 The term complaint in this policy includes requests made under the Freedom of Information Act 2000 and the Data Protection Act 1998 and reference to the complaints procedure is, where relevant, to be interpreted as meaning requests under those Acts.

1.4 Habitual or vexatious complainants can be a problem for Members. The difficulty in handling such complainants is that they are time consuming and wasteful of resources in terms of Members' time and displace scarce human resources that could otherwise be spent on the Centre's priorities. Whilst the Members endeavours to respond with patience and sympathy to the needs of all complainants there are times when there is nothing further which can reasonably be done to assist or to rectify a real or perceived problem.

2. Habitual or Vexatious Complainants

2.1 For the purpose of this policy the following definition of habitual or vexatious complainants will be used:

The repeated and/or obsessive pursuit of:

(i) unreasonable complaints and/or unrealistic outcomes; and/or

(ii) reasonable complaints in an unreasonable manner.

2.2 Prior to considering its implementation a summary of this policy shall be sent to the complainant(s) to give them prior notification of its possible implementation

2.3 Where complaints continue and have been identified as habitual or vexatious in accordance with the criteria set out in the attached document (Schedule A), Members shall agree to agree to treat the complainant as a habitual or vexatious complainant and for an appropriate course of action to be taken. The attached schedule (B) details the options available for dealing with habitual or vexatious complaints.

2.4 Members will notify complainants, in writing, of the reasons why their complaint has been treated as habitual or vexatious and the action that will be taken.

2.5 Once a complainant has been determined to be habitual or vexatious, their status will be kept under review by Members.

Schedule A - Criteria for Determining Habitual or Vexatious Complainants

Complainants (and/or anyone acting on their behalf) may be deemed to be habitual or vexatious where previous or current contact with them shows that they meet one of the following criteria: Where complainants:

1. Persist in pursuing a complaint where the Centre's process has been fully and properly implemented and exhausted.

2. Persistently change the substance of a complaint or continually raise new issues or seek to prolong contact by continually raising further concerns or questions whilst the complaint is being addressed. (Care must be taken, however, not to disregard new issues which are significantly different from the original complaint as they need to be addressed as separate complaints.)

3. Are repeatedly unwilling to accept documented evidence given as being factual or deny receipt of an adequate response in spite of correspondence specifically answering their questions or do not accept that facts can sometimes be difficult to verify when a long period of time has elapsed.

4. Repeatedly do not clearly identify the precise issues which they wish to be investigated, despite reasonable efforts of the Centre to help them specify their concerns, and/or where the concerns identified are not within the remit of the Centre to investigate.

5. Regularly focus on a trivial matter to an extent which is out of proportion to its significance and continue to focus on this point. It is recognised that determining what is a trivial matter can be subjective and careful judgement will be used in applying this criteria.

6. Have threatened or used physical violence towards Members at any time. This will, in itself, cause personal contact with the complainant and/or their representative to be discontinued and the complaint will, thereafter, only be continued through written communication. The Centre has determined that any complainant who threatens or uses actual physical violence towards Members will be regarded as a vexatious complainant. The complainant will be informed of this in writing together with notification of how future contact with the Centre is to be made.

7. Have, in the course of addressing a registered complaint, had an excessive number of contacts with the Centre - placing unreasonable demands on Members. A contact may be in person, by telephone, letter, email or fax. Judgement will be used to determine excessive contact taking into account the specific circumstances of each individual case.

8. Have harassed or been verbally abusive on more than one occasion towards Members dealing with the complaint.

9. Are known to have recorded meetings or face-to-face/telephone conversations without the prior knowledge and consent of other parties involved.

10. Make unreasonable demands on the Centre and its Members and fail to accept that these may be unreasonable, for example, insist on responses to complaints or enquiries being provided more urgently than is reasonable or within the Centre's complaints procedure or normal recognised practice.

11. Make unreasonable complaints which impose a significant burden on the human resources of the Centre and where the complaint:

- clearly does not have any serious purpose or value; or
- is designed to cause disruption or annoyance; or
- has the effect of harassing the Centre; or
- can otherwise fairly be characterised as obsessive or manifestly unreasonable.

12. Make repetitive complaints and allegations which ignore the replies which Members have supplied in previous correspondence.

Schedule B - Options for Dealing with Habitual or Vexatious Complainants

The options below can be used singularly or in combination depending on the circumstances of the case and whether the complaint process is ongoing or completed.

1. A letter to the complainant setting out responsibilities for the parties involved if the Centre is to continue processing the complaint. If terms are contravened, consideration will then be given to implementing other action as indicated below.

2. Decline contact with the complainant, either in person, by telephone, by fax, by letter, by email or any combination of these, provided that one form of contact is maintained. This may also mean that only one named Member will be nominated to maintain contact (and a named deputy in their absence). The complainant will be notified of this person.

3. Notify the complainant, in writing, that the Centre has responded fully to the points raised and has tried to resolve the complaint but there is nothing more to add and continuing contact on the matter will serve no useful purpose. The complainant will also be notified that the correspondence is at an end, advising the complainant that they are being treated as a habitual or vexatious complainant and as such the Council does not intend to engage in further correspondence dealing with the complaint.

4. Inform the complainant that in extreme circumstances the Centre will seek legal advice on habitual or vexatious complaints.
